SUN SHINES AGAIN

reather man has been running things ately.

Aithough it would seem that the rainfall during the month of October has been much above normal, the excess has really been only .95 Inch. But even this amount has been sufficient to cause all the rivers of East Tennessee to rise considerably. At present, though, they are fallying rapidly, with the exception of the Tennessee, which is rising. Them stage at 5 o'clock Monday morning was 14.7 feet, which will reach a crest of 17 feet by Tuesday morning. The Holston, Clinch, French Broad, Little Tennessee and Hiwassee rivers reached their crests Saturday and Sunday.

The forecust of "fair and cooler" for Monday and Tuesday is the natural result of the low pressure ares, which was over southern Texas Saturday morning, advancing rapidly northward, now being over northeastern Minnesota. During the past twenty-four hours precipitation was general over the upper Mississippi valley, eastward into the lake region and southward to the gulf. There has been a decided fall in temperature over the east central states and lower Mississippi valley. Killing frost occurred in easten Nebraska and portions of Missouri and Arkansas.

ALLIED LEADER

GENERAL JOSEPH MANGIN. Gen. Joseph Mangin, leader of the Tenth French army, is probably one of the most popular men of the allied armies. Gen. Mangin was in command of the French and American forces in the great counter-offensive between the Aisne and the Marne which began July 13. He is loud in his praise of the Yankee fighters, and says it is easy to lead Americans to victory. The photo, taken recently on the French front, shows Gen. Mangin talking to a Senegalese

EVERY RED-BLOODED AMERICAN READ THE FOLLOWING

Are your records slacking?

(Reproduced from Literary Digest, October 26, 1918.)

LACKER is the term that makes everybody shudder, so everybody who owns phonograph records will baston to place themselves outside the pale of such imputation. A Phonograph Records Recruiting Corps—name it a "P. R. R. C.," if you wish to add to the war's confusions has been organized to call on you to stand and deliver, and this will be done between October 26 and November 2, when every convenience will be afforded you to extricate yourself from the slacker class. The New York Times tells us that "the new movement has associated with it nearly two hundred persons of distinction in musical, social and public life." There are opera singers, artists, and majorgenerals, to say nothing of ordinary men in the street. Mr. Vivian Burnett heads the movement. Musical America shows how the countrywide canvass for machines and discs will be made:

"The system involves the formation of local committees, which will co-operate with the committee, with local dealers, and with workers for the various welfare agencies. By posters, circulars and other display matter, public interest will be aroused so that the week chosen for the "special Draft Your Slacker Records' campaign—October 26 to November 2—will be an unqualified success. Approximately five hundred such local committees have formed and are at work. The central committee at 21 East Fortieth tsreet, New York City, will be assisted in working out the problems of assorting and distribution by an advisory council composed of members from the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., K. of C., Jewish Welfare Board, Salvation Army and War Camp Community Service.

Mr. Walter Damrosch, recently returned from a tour in France with first-hand information about the Army's needs in the music line, corroborates in the Outlook (New York), the fundamental principle of the movement that "music makes morale."

"Any man or woman who helps now in the immense task of providing musical entertainment for our fighting men is contributing directly to that dirving force which is sweeping our armies 'over the top' to ultimate victory. Our men have been, and increasingly will be, provided with the inspiration which music gives, and the morale of the American forces, which has been the subject of so much admiring comment, is in no small measure due to the musical stimulus they have had.

"If music is not available in one form it must be made so in some other. That is one reason why, almost as soon as I landed in this country, I accepted the invitation extended to me by Mr. Burnett to join the P. R. R. C., which has undertaken the task of coordinating the efforts of other organizations and individuals to equip local camps, transports, and overseas forces with an ample supply of phonographs and records. The demands coming in from men in the trenches, on shipboard, in aviation camps, and in hospitals abroad are sufficient to absorb a round million records, with machines and needles-and yet leave some requests unfilled."

In a corner of the red triangle hut, says Dr. John R. Mott, in the American Magazine, a phonograph grinds endlessly, day and night. "If only you could see one of those overworked phonographs you would go down in your pockets for the price of a hundred of them and ransack your records for every one you could spare." Jerome Swineford, in the columns of the New York Times, offsets some possible misconceptions:

"Down in the 'Y' buildings at Norfolk and Portsmouth, at the big naval hospital and the St. Helena Training Station it is absolutely pitiable to see the · worn-out records that are 'still being used-because there aren't any new ones. Don't think for a minute that the records are treated carelessly. Oh, no; they are far too precious for that. They are simply used over and over until they are completely worn out.

"My work brings me in touch every day with hundreds, sometimes thousands, of enlisted men of the Navy. I wish the folks back home could realize the great part that music plays in the lives of these men and their absolute hunger for it. If they did realize it there wouldn't be any need to ask for recordsthey would come in by thousands."

Any Records you would like to put to work for UNCLE SAM we will accept at this store and see that they are delivered to the proper authorities for distribution—NOT A CENT OF COST TO YOU
